Investigation continues

Corporal Fisher of the 200 block of Kerr Street reported calling several area business places after she discovered a 14 karat gold chain belonging to a relative had been stolen from her residence Jan. 5.

A businessman in Granite City, among those alerted to the theft, later called Fisher saying he may have the 18-inch gold chain. Fisher then identified the jewelry. An investigation is continuing.

Quad City men charged in burglary

COLLINSVILLE — Three persons were charged by the Madison County State's Attorney's Office on Jan. 9 with burglarizing the Sub-Stop 66 convenience store at 413 Belt Line Road in Collinsville on Jan. 1.

The arrests were made possible by information supplied to Collinsville police by the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Gerard Bulva, 25, of Iowa Street, Madison, Gary Walliser, 25, of Sixth Street, Madison, and Christopher Spivey, 18, of Lincoln Avenue, Granite City, were charged with burglary. Collinsville Detective Ron Borkowski said the men confessed to the crime.

Between eight and 10 cartons of cigarettes valued at $900, 500 lottery tickets and unspecified amounts of cash and coins were stolen.

The suspects were arrested after they cashed in a number of the lottery tickets Jan. 8 at Curly's Quick Shop on Maryville

Road in Granite City.

Borkowski said the suspects had broken out a window at Sub-Stop 66 the night before the burglary to determine how long it would take police to respond.

Just before the burglary, the men called police and reported that there was a disturbance on North Combs so that some officers would be busy while the crime was in progress, Borkowski said.

EPA
THE UNITED STATES
ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY is accepting
PUBLIC COMMENTS
on a proposed cleanup plan for the
NL INDUSTRIES/TARACORP LEAD SMELTER SUPERFUND SITE
16th ST. AND CLEVELAND BLVD.
GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) recently completed its review of a feasibility study prepared for the NL Industries/Taracorp Lead Smelter Superfund site in Granite City, IL. The study evaluated cleanup alternatives for addressing contamination at the site.

U.S. EPA has identified several areas at and near the site that are contaminated, and may expose the community to lead through direct contact or inhalation of contaminated soil and dust. These areas include:

- A pile on the site used to store wastes from lead processing operations (Taracorp pile)
- A waste pile of battery case materials adjacent to the site (St. Louis Lead Recyclers (SLLR) piles)
- Two areas (The Venice Township Alleys and Eagle Park Acres) where battery case material containing lead were used for fill and alley-paving
- Industrial soils on the adjacent Tri-Unit 454 and Tri-City Trucking Properties (Area 1)
- Residential soils near the site which are contaminated with lead (Areas 2 through 8)
- 25-35 drums on the surface of the Taracorp pile that contain lead wastes

The feasibility study evaluated cleanup alternatives and assessed each alternative on its effectiveness in protecting public health and the environment, technical feasibility, and cost. U.S. EPA considered the following alternatives:

Alternative A: No Action
Monitoring: air quality monitoring; ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells.
Institutional controls: site access restrictions; land use restrictions; deed use restrictions; sale restrictions

Alternative B
Taracorp Pile: multimedia cap; institutional controls
Taracorp Drums: off-site recovery at secondary lead smelter
SLLR Piles: excavate and consolidate with Taracorp pile
Venice Alleys: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Eagle Park Acres: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 1 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 2 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 3 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Monitoring: air and ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells; contingency plans

Alternative C is nearly identical to Alternative D, and therefore has been excluded from further consideration.

Alternative D
Taracorp Pile: multimedia cap; institutional controls
Taracorp Drums: off-site recovery at secondary lead smelter
SLLR Piles: excavate and consolidate with Taracorp pile
Venice Alleys: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Eagle Park Acres: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 1 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 2 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 3 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Monitoring: air and ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells; contingency plans

Alternative E
Taracorp Pile: multimedia cap; supplemental liner; institutional controls
Taracorp Drums: off-site recovery at secondary lead smelter
SLLR Piles: excavate and consolidate with Taracorp pile
Venice Alleys: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Eagle Park Acres: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 1 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 2-8 Residential Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Monitoring: air and ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells; contingency plans

Alternative F
Taracorp Pile: multimedia cap; supplemental liner; recovery of plastic battery case materials and lead; institutional controls
Taracorp Drums: off-site recovery at secondary lead smelter
SLLR Piles: excavate and consolidate with Taracorp pile
Venice Alleys: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Eagle Park Acres: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 1 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 2-8 Residential Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Monitoring: air and ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells; contingency plans

Alternative G
Taracorp Pile: recovery of plastic battery case material and lead; disposal of residuals in RCRA landfill
Taracorp Drums: off-site recovery at secondary lead smelter
SLLR Piles: disposal in RCRA landfill
Venice Alleys: excavate case material; disposal in RCRA landfill; restore surfaces
Eagle Park Acres: excavate case material; disposal in RCRA landfill; restore surfaces
Area 1 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate and restore; disposal in RCRA landfill
Area 2-8 Residential Surfaces: excavate and restore; disposal in non-RCRA landfill
Monitoring: air and ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells; contingency plans

Alternative H:
Taracorp Pile: multimedia cap; institutional controls
Taracorp Drums: off-site recovery at secondary lead smelter
SLLR Piles: excavate and consolidate with Taracorp pile
Venice Alleys: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Eagle Park Acres: excavate case material and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 1 Unpaved Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Area 2-8 Residential Surfaces: excavate soil and consolidate with Taracorp pile; restore surfaces
Monitoring: air and ground-water monitoring; additional deep wells; contingency plans

U.S. EPA proposes Alternative H as the remedy for contamination at the site. U.S. EPA believes this alternative will protect human health and the environment, will comply with all applicable state and federal regulations, reduce contaminant movement, and will be cost-effective.

The feasibility study, proposed plan, and other site-related documents are available for review at the Granite City Public Library, 2001 Delmar Avenue, Granite City, IL 62040.

Before making a final decision, U.S. EPA will consider oral and written comments on all cleanup alternatives and the proposed plan from January 10 to February 24, 1990. Oral comments on the proposed plan may be submitted at the following public meeting:

Thursday, February 8, 1990 - 7:00 PM
TOWNSHIP HALL
2060 Delmar Avenue
Granite City, IL

Written comments must be postmarked by February 24, 1990, and sent to MaryAnn Croce LaFaire, Office of Public Affairs (5PA-14), U.S. EPA Region 5, 230 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, IL 60604.

THE LAW AND YOU

Many individuals contemplating bankruptcy only consider filing a Chapter 7 bankruptcy, which normally discharges most unsecured debts in full. They do not realize that a Chapter 13 Wage Earner Plan is also an option available to them. A Chapter 13 bankruptcy allows an individual to set up a plan to pay his creditors over a three-year period.

Some debtors have a sincere desire to pay their debts but lack the present ability to stop the creditors from harassing them about delinquent payments. When a person files a Chapter 13 Wage Earner Plan, the creditor can no longer contact him or make attempts to collect the debt. All lawsuits, wage garnishments, mortgage foreclosures and attempts to repossess a car are stopped by the filing of a Chapter 13 Plan. Thus, a debtor filing a Wage Earner Plan can obtain relief from collection efforts and at the same time arrange to pay back his creditors over a period of years.

There are other reasons why a debtor may want to consider a Chapter 13 Plan rather than a straight bankruptcy. Some debts cannot be discharged by filing a Chapter 7. For instance, student loans, back taxes and delinquent child support payments cannot be discharged by filing a straight bankruptcy. By filing a Chapter 13 Plan, however, a debtor can force the creditor to accept delinquent payments over a period of years. Therefore, if the Internal Revenue Service is aggressively pursuing back taxes, the taxpayer can file a Chapter 13 bankruptcy and set up a plan to pay the back taxes on a monthly basis.

Another reason for choosing the Wage Earner Plan involves the area of secured debts. Examples of secured debts would be a note secured by a mortgage on real estate or a note secured by an alien on an automobile. If a debtor falls behind on his house payments or car payments, he faces the possibility of losing the assets through foreclosure or repossession. If he files a Chapter 7 bankruptcy in this situation, the creditor can insist that all delinquent payments be brought current in order to stop foreclosure or repossession. By filing a Chapter 13 Plan, however, the debtor can stop all attempts to take back the asset and at the same time force the creditor to accept delinquent payments through the Wage Earner Plan over three years.

Flying high

Now feeling secure in the old North High School campus, BAC takes aim at future

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Bob Davis dreams of a day when his community college campus will be able to custom design training programs for specific industry jobs.

He has in mind such companies as Cerro Copper, Westinghouse, Aero Aviation and others with which the school already has a strong training and job-placement relationship.

"Someday soon, a company will be able to come to us and say, 'We need 15 people to do this special job' and we'll be able to custom design a training program to prepare people exactly for that job," Davis said.

Currently, the college is writing a proposal to put before the state Legislature in hopes of getting $2.5 million of the $3 million projected cost of turning the gymnasium of the campus, the former Granite City High School North, into a two-story classroom and laboratory facility. The facility

"Our message to the community is that BAC has great hopes for this area."

would house the specialized programs and other new classes envisioned for the campus.

But the programs already under way at the seven-year-old college campus at Illinois Route 203 and Maryville Road have begun the task of retraining the local workforce to meet the changing needs of industry in the 1990s.

"In our aviation mechanics program, we have placed everybody in a job who has completed the program, with an average starting pay of $11 an hour plus benefits," Davis said.

The campus has received special permission from the Federal Aviation Administration to conduct a one-year aviation mechanics program, rather than the usual two-year course offered at other places.

"It's the nature of the program we offer that allows us to train in one year," he said.

Davis, who was superintendent of schools in Granite City District 9 when North High was built, is particularly proud of the use the college has made of the campus. North was operated as a high school for exactly 10 years, until June 1983.

Leased for two years by BAC, North was purchased by the college in 1985.

Former music rooms are now used as lecture halls.

Classrooms originally built when it was thought that the building might house an elementary school are now data processing labs, with classrooms connected by glass windows so that an instructor can lecture to one group of students while keeping tabs on another group working in the lab.

The college has spent more than $1 million renovating the campus, but, Davis points out, many of the original functions of various facilities when the building was a high school are still functional at the college level. These include science labs, administrative offices, the cafeteria, even locker facilities.

The Granite City Campus had an enrollment of about 2,250 students who earned more than 14,000 credit hours in the fall semester.

Most of those students come from the Quad City area. And, Davis said, their average age is 31.

Only 10 percent of high school graduates enroll at the campus right after high school, but more than 49 percent have enrolled at some point by the time they've been out of high school for five years. The spring semester begins Jan. 15.

"They're displaced housewives, older people returning to the workforce, those who want additional job training and those who want a whole new career. They come here to study computers, business, health professions, and any number of other things," Davis said.

"We realized that with declining enrollments in high schools, we had to target a different market in order to keep our programs growing. We're giving alternatives to adults now, too," Davis said.

In keeping with the idea of serving older students, the campus also provides childcare facilities during day and evening hours, including a preschool-like setting for students' children.

In addition to regular classes, many of which can be transferred for credit at four-year colleges, the campus also offers special Saturday Experience seminars on such things as flower arranging, gourmet cooking, computers and aerobics.

On the agenda for late spring is a special program for people age 55 and older who want to take college courses but are shy about taking them with younger students.

"Many older adults are afraid of looking foolish, but we want people to know that at BAC no one is going to look foolish because we'll be there to help them," said Davis.

The program for older adults does not have a name yet, because the college is giving senior citizens the chance to choose the name themselves.

Among the choices are College for Older Americans, Older Adult Institute, Lifelong Learning and Senior Scholars. Senior citizens are being surveyed on what sorts of classes they might like to see offered in the program, ranging from anthropology or foreign languages to a class called Image Update or one on defensive driving.

Other possibilities include estate planning, self defense and stress management courses.

The campus also has plans to revamp and repaint a Korean War-era fighter plane in one of the aviation courses. The plane eventually will sit on clear plastic blocks in a position that will make it look as though it's taking off.

On the horizon, classes are being considered in food management and culinary arts, including a possible waitressing course and one to train maitre d'hôtels.

A business development office is scheduled to open this spring. In this office, a coordinator will begin to work directly with local companies to determine their job needs for the coming years.

Davis believes the next likely progression for wide-scale industrial development involving the St. Louis market is onto the Illinois side of the Mississippi River.

"Where else can they go? I think companies are beginning to realize the real benefits of doing business over here and they're going to begin looking for their work force from among locals who have the right skills."

"I think having a college that can provide that trained work force is going to be seen as a big asset by companies looking to build here," Davis said.

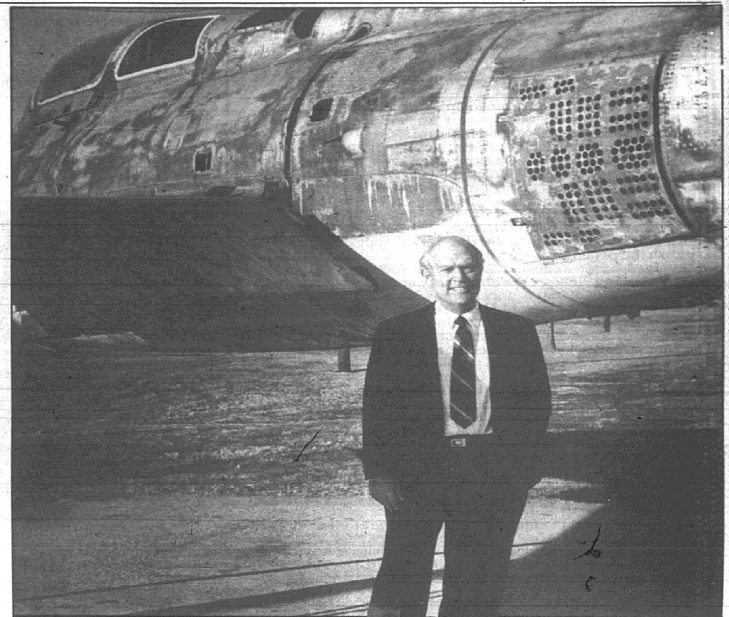

Articulation with local high schools and four-year colleges has also improved.

Now, students entering directly from high school are better able to prepare for college by taking specific high school courses, some even designed to give direct college credit to the student while he or she is still in high school.

Students who go on to four-year degrees at schools like Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are also more likely to have their BAC credits accepted toward their degree because some courses have been adapted to include the requirements of both schools.

"I think all of this shows the community that we're committed to doing some really neat things in this area," Davis said.

"I think people are only beginning to realize what a potential asset they have in Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus."

PROVOST BOB DAVIS of Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus shows off the college's Korean War-era fighter plane. The plane, a military gift to the college in 1970, will be repainted and repaired by BAC students to show original markings and mechanics.

Seniors like BAC offerings

Taking watercolor painting classes at BAC's Granite City Campus has provided Lorraine Decatur with an enrichment she says she probably wouldn't have found elsewhere.

"I like the atmosphere, the observing of other people's work, the pleasure of being with other people and working on improving my own technique," she said.

The convenience of the local campus and the tuition breaks for senior citizens are high on her list.

Decatur likes the idea of a special program just for senior citizens and feels that some who may be hesitant to take classes inhabited by young people may feel more comfortable knowing they will study with other seniors.

"I really hope it will be successful. I think it will. It's right here in Granite City and I definitely think being with other seniors will be a big thing for some people," she said.

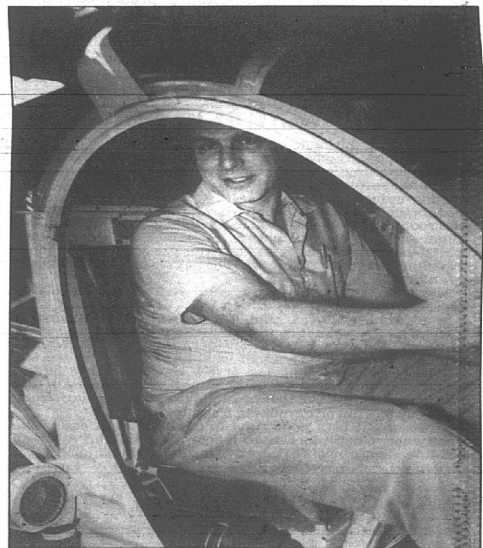

She questions whether transportation to and from the campus is adequate, given that many seniors don't drive, especially at night.

"I only wonder how they will get there, especially when the weather's bad. Maybe they could carpool or develop a bus system," she said.

For those who may still be unsure about signing up for classes, Decatur offers some advice.

"As long as you've got the time, patience and a little money, get out there and do it!"

Even election shoo-ins enjoy running for office without opposition

From a news standpoint, I prefer to see spirited election competition, pitting together two or more well-qualified contenders.

But in my heart of hearts, I must admit that if I was a candidate for public office, I would much rather run without opposition.

EVEN TOP VOTE-GETTERS like Evelyn M. Bowles, Madison County clerk, like to run without a ballot opponent.

Seated for supper Monday evening at Jerry's Cafeteria in Granite City, I exchanged greetings with Miss Bowles, who said she was in town with a group that was conducting training for poll judges who will conduct the March primary election.

The conversation led to the fact that Evelyn is running unopposed for re-election. "I've run both ways, and this is the best way," she commented with a smile.

CLEARLY UNBEATABLE as long as she runs for office in this county, Evelyn nevertheless realizes it is advantageous to be unopposed. Not only won't she have to spend as much time defending her record at campaign appearances, but she can focus more fully on her official duties in the election.

A couple of decades ago the Illinois General Assembly made county clerks the chief officers for all elections, rather than dividing that task with municipal officials and others.

As a result, the full burden rests on her shoulders. Meanwhile, the sheer complexity of consolidated elections has become mind-boggling, at least to laymen.

ALTHOUGH COMPETITION will be somewhat lacking this year, there are always elements of an election day that provide interest and excitement for campaign observers and participants.

For example, the primary is chiefly a mechanism for nominating candidates who then will square off in the general election. But the March balloting also will decide number of battles for precinct committeemen, who then reorganize their parties and choose township and county political chairmen.

Also, though there will be scant primary rivalry statewide, the stage is set for fierce Illinois ballot fights in November.

MISS BOWLES HAS SEEN it all, not only during her own service as county clerk but in prior years when she was on the staff of another longtime Madison County clerk, Edwilda Hotz. She is an Edwardsville Democrat, as was the late Miss Hotz.

First elected to the countywide office 16 years ago, Evelyn previously served as the chief deputy county clerk for 22 years.

Born in Worden, she attended Worden and Livingston schools, Illinois State University at Normal, Greenville College in Greenville and Southern Illinois University.

BEFORE JOINING the county clerk's staff, Evelyn owned a photographic studio for five years and was a school teacher for six years. She is a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Edwardsville.

She served for two and a half years in the U.S. Coast Guard Women's Reserve (SPARS) Intelligence Division.

For 20 years an officer of Local 799, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Evelyn also was a longtime precinct committeewoman and headed the Madison County Democratic Women's Organization.

Other affiliations include the Daughters of Isabella, American Legion Auxiliary, Audubon Society and Edwardsville Business and Professional Women. She has been active in the Cancer Society, Hospice and other groups, has served on the State Board of Elections advisory committee, and has emphasized microfilming and computerization in her office.

ELECTED AS PRESIDENT of the State Association of County Clerks and Records, Miss Bowles has gained recognition from a wide range of people and organizations.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City is among her fans.

When he was county party leader and some politicians wanted to run an opposition candidate for county clerk, Hagnauer responded, "She has done an outstanding job in cooperating with the County Board and in providing services to the people."

PERHAPS THE MOST important but one of the most misunderstood aspects of her office is its role in real estate taxation.

Some officials actually like to tell citizens that it is the county clerk who is setting their taxes, she isn't.

When schools' and cities' levies have been set by their boards, she mathematically applies them to the assessment base and figures out the tax rate. It is this rate that is applied to individual assessments to determine the amount of one's tax bill.

IT'S ALL A MATTER of arithmetic, not opinion as to how high or low taxes should be.

And it has to be done precisely. If bond principal and interest allocations have been authorized in past years for the current year, she includes the appropriate levy even if no one else has bothered to list it.

In all cases, rates are limited to the levels allowed by lawmakers and voters, often resulting in tax extensions that are lower than what had been levied.

Press Jennison's cleanup

Jennison-Wright Corp.'s bankruptcy proceedings are leaving behind a crucial question: Who will pay for dioxin contamination believed caused in Granite City?

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency says the Jennison-Wright plant is contaminated with some forms of dioxin as a result of using PCP-type wood treatment materials. Earlier, the IEPA said studies showed the possibility that some of the contamination may have spread to the surrounding neighborhood.

The off-site area contamination presents no immediate health hazard, according to the IEPA, but that doesn't diminish the problem as we view it.

Cleveland-based Jennison-Wright has filed for bankruptcy in federal court. IEPA expects to get some kind of payment out of it, but the amount is uncertain. What if it's $10?

Granite City officials would be wise to start considering the alternatives, among them contacting people like state Rep. Sam Wolf or U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello for assistance. The government, as so often has been the case, may have to bail out yet another environmental problem.

Jennison-Wright should not be able to walk away from its responsibilities via a federal bankruptcy, and it likely will not, since the new owners have been described as "very cooperative" by EPA officials. The problem began under previous operators, the EPA says, and was first pointed out by the new owners.

Cooperative or not, the company will not be able to clean up the site without the money.

... and proceed at Taracorp

Proposals related to cleaning up lead contamination in the Quad City area seem so logical that we cannot visualize much opposition developing at a public hearing to be conducted at 7 p.m. Feb. 8 in the Granite City Township Building. And in this case, money for the cleanup apparently is not a problem.

Environmental protection officials have proposed using the federal environmental "Superfund" to finance the removal of potentially hazardous materials, including battery acid and casings, from the former Taracorp plant in Granite City and from Venice alleys and Eagle Park home sites.

Also proposed is the removal of some soil in residential areas surrounding the various sites.

Investigation of the problem here began more than a decade ago, a decade in which pollution fines from various sources have been accumulating. It has now been nearly a year since the U.S. EPA designated the sites mentioned as authorized Superfund projects.

Area citizens are hopeful that corrective action will be started soon after the hearing and the Feb. 24 end of the public comment period.

Not all pollution is outdoors

It's the law of the land — in Illinois, at least, after July 1.

Gov. James Thompson on Tuesday signed legislation limiting smoking in public buildings and places of work to designated smoking areas. It also allows employers to ban smoking entirely.

Exempted are bars, bowling alleys, factories, warehouses, hotel rooms and rooms rented for private gatherings.

Cigarette and cigar smokers may feel the new statute discriminates against them, but the governor cited some powerful reasons for taking what he says is only a first step in the anti-smoking fight.

•About 20,000 Illinoisans die each year of smoke-related illnesses.

•In addition, each year, about 250 non-smokers who inhale "second-hand smoke" from other persons also die.

A second step would be early consideration would be removal of the new law's ban on tougher local-level laws.

In the meantime, citizens of all viewpoints are left to ponder such slogans as the law's name, Clean Indoor Air, and the acronym, GASP, of those leading the anti-smoking effort, the Group to Alleviate Smoking Pollution.

It also might be a good time to meditate over one of the reasons for GASP's increased indoor air pollution: All those well-intended projects to improve insulation in buildings.

Trivia could keep you awake

Of all the books written in the last several years, I think the Wallace family's "Book of Lists" best characterizes the trivial decade of the '80s.

The great American obsession became games like "Trivial Pursuit," TV shows like "Entertainment Tonight," and newspapers like USA Today. All flourished because just enough people loved the stuff that most people cared less about.

And the "Book of Lists" had it all, telling about famous, famous, left-handed people; the 11 hottest cities in the world; the 10 biggest wine-drinking countries; Henry Miller's "Gasp." Martin's foot bunion problem is no longer bothering her. "To be fair, let's give an example of what a husband would wake his wife to say: 'By the way, honey, did I tell you that a runaway truck hit the office and killed four people last week? I can't remember.'"

Reason 75: Kids. Example: Son comes into room. "Dad, I think I'm going to be ... blaargh."

Dennis Grubaugh

Reason 76: Cleanups. See Reason 75.

Reason 103: Positioning. Example: "If you don't quit hogging the bed, I'm going to beat the tar out of you."

Reason 222: Noise. Example: "Sorry to wake you, honey, but I've just cracked the dry wall."

Reason 228: Dishes. Example: Pots left in dish drainer the night before just happen to shift slightly, causing you to go looking for the burglar.

Criminals having field day, must be stopped

To the editor:

It is a shame that the good citizens of Venice are afraid to leave their homes day or night, because some unlawful, cowardly thief or thieves might break into our homes.

In the last few weeks in Ward 2 that I know of, the law breakers are having a field day. They must be watching our homes. They know when we leave our homes.

The criminals have no respect for the law-abiding citizens of this great community. They have no respect for our Police Department.

It's time for the people of Venice to stand up and be counted. Let these thugs know that we are not afraid of them and we are sick and tired of them breaking into our homes.

The good citizens are afraid to go to church, work, school, the store or anywhere because of fear someone is going to break in.

Neighbors, let's start talking and pointing the finger at these crooks. You don't have to give your name; just call the police or somebody whenever you see somebody breaking in or just looking around your neighbor's house.

There are more of us good citizens than those hoodlums. I am sick and tired of it and I know others are, too, because you good citizens may be next.

These crooks who are constantly doing this should be run out of town until they stop these break-ins. There are so many excuses that we, the citizens, have heard. Who is telling the truth?

Our police of Venice are saying that, when they arrest the crooks, the crooks are back on the streets the same day. Sometimes, the next hour.

If this is the case, we need to question our State's Attorney's Office. If that is not the answer, let's question the judges that these thugs are brought before.

Why are they turned loose so quickly? We as citizens and taxpayers want some answers. We know that Venice is 90 percent black, and that break-ins are done mostly by our own black people. We want the judges and state's attorney to know that we don't want criminals on the streets of Venice, regardless if black or white.

If undesirable commit crimes let them do the maximum time. A word of good advice and warning to the crime breaker: "Tell your partners or friends, and day or night you are going to break in somebody's house and you are going to think they are not at home. But they will be there to your surprise."

"You may come through a window, or back door, basement window, front door or side door. That will be your last stand. Your final resting place. To your own surprise, there you will lie and the world will kiss you goodbye. Think on this, Mr. or Mrs. or Miss thief or thieves."

They are now stealing cars and breaking windows out. Citizens of Venice, enough is enough.

Mr. or Mrs. Criminal or Mr. or Mrs. whoever you are, your days are numbered. You will be caught.

Citizens, get involved. ALDERMAN JOHN HENRY WILLIAMS, Venice Ward 2

Reopen closed Granite High School campus

To the editor:

I think the Granite City High School campus should be reopened. There are many reasons why I, along with many other students, think that the administration should reopen the campus.

One of the reasons is that the cafeteria is too crowded, which makes it too warm in the summer months. In the winter months you are cold because you stand outside to eat or the doors are continuously opening and closing.

Another reason: It is not fair to the students who never had the privilege to go off campus. Going off campus was what many if not all freshmen were looking forward to in high school, which would have given us all a variety of eating facilities.

Besides those reasons, the school board is showing distrust in the students who had nothing to do with the actions of some students that ruined it for everyone.

This is why many students think they should reopen the Granite City High School campus.

I feel that if they were to reopen the campus, any students who cannot obey the rules should be punished, not the whole school.

Volunteers make charity program possible

To the editor:

At the end of 1989, I am thankful to the many generous volunteers who shared their time each week with a Little Brother or a Little Sister as well as those who supported Big Brothers/Big Sisters through donations.

The services we offer to children are made possible through the generosity of individuals and through contributions from local businesses.

Funds raised for Big Brothers/Big Sisters from contributions and special events stay in our local communities to support programs for children living in single-parent families in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Recently, I received a letter from James Schmitt, president of the Better Business Bureau, in it, Mr. Schmitt informed me that information provided to the Better Business Bureau by Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Southwestern Illinois in October 1989 "has been evaluated and found to meet the standards for charitable solicitations."

Through the support of many individuals and businesses, Big Brothers/Big Sisters can continue to help children stay in school, out of trouble and off drugs.

We appreciate the opportunity to provide this service in partnership with a caring community. We are committed to serving more children in 1990 with the help of dedicated volunteers.

Bowling: Is it a sport?

To the editor:

Granite City High School is a good school for extracurricular activities, but if it had a bowling traveling league, it would be better.

For instance, McCluer North High School and Belleville have teams. My question is: Why can't we?

If money is the problem, we have it; not having enough bowlers for the team is a problem, we have more than enough. We have all the answers. Then, why can't we have a team?

St. Louis is a bowling hub—it would only make the St. Louis area look better and continue to produce better bowlers from here.

It would also make more people recognize that we have some great bowlers from this area and from this school.

If they consider golf, football, baseball, basketball, etc., sports, then why can't the administration consider bowling a sport?

Bowling would cost Granite City High School a lot less than football. One football helmet costs $100. The only thing Granite City High School would have to buy is bowling shirts; everybody has his own bowling equipment.

Not only would it benefit bowlers and the community, it would also benefit Granite City High School.

It would give us good public relations. Some people don't realize how good some of these bowlers are, and how much competition there is.

A large majority of the bowlers in Junior Archway, 16 years and older, in the St. Louis area average above 200, and this area is known as a bowling team. You can't tell me they don't deserve something for that. At least they should be able to be in a traveling league for their own school.

As you can see I have shown you plenty of reasons why a bowling league should be started. Not only would it benefit the bowlers, it would also benefit the community.

M.L. King birthday program

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Mayor Callie Mobley of Alorton, mother of six children, will be the featured speaker at the eighth annual Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. birthday observance program at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice.

The observance will take place at 4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 14, the Rev. John Henry Williams, pastor, said.

"Everyone is welcome to come out and join in this joyous celebration," he said.

The guest speaker became the first black woman mayor in Illinois and the 14th in the United States when elected to that office in 1981.

She was appointed to the Alorton Board of Trustees in 1977, served as chairman of the village board's finance committee and was elected to the trustee post in 1979.

Mobley was re-elected to a third consecutive four-year term as Alorton mayor in April 1989. She serves as first vice president of the National Black Women Mayors' Caucus.

Mobley was among the leaders of a delegation from the National Conference of Black Mayors which visited West African nations in 1984, including the countries of Dakar, Senegal/Monrovia, Liberia and the Ivory Coast.

Honored in Washington by the Booker T. Washington Foundation in 1983, she was elected president of the Illinois Chapter of Black Mayors in 1984 and re-elected to the same office in 1985.

Mobley was elected for two terms as president of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors and serves on the executive board of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

The mayor also serves as president of the Community Action Agency board and St. Clair County Upgrade board and is a director of the Southern Illinois Health Care Foundation.

The mayor was born in Mississippi. She and her husband, Jimmy, have six children.

An aerobic workout designed for men and women of all ability levels, Low-Impact Aerobics offers warm-up, aerobic phase and cool-down. Heart rates are monitored.

Road rules class Jan. 17

The Granite City Council of Senior Citizens, in coordination with the Illinois Secretary of State Office, is offering a Rules of the Road review course Jan. 17 for all citizens in the Granite City area.

The purpose of the course is to help applicants pass the Illinois driver's license renewal examination. It updates drivers on the current rules of the road, explains the vision and the driving ability examinations, and prepares applicants for written and road examination.

The course will be taught at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave., Wednesday, Jan. 17, from 9 to 11 a.m. The course is free to everyone, any age, who wishes to attend. For more information, Clyde Myers can be called at 876-3981.

High-intensity, low-impact aerobics course starts at SEMC

GRANITE CITY — Starting this week, the Going Strong Wellness Center is offering a class in high-intensity, low-impact aerobics. The winter series of classes was announced by Jim Chiappa, wellness coordinator.

"This class is for people desiring moderate to high levels of exercise, with little stress to the knees and ankles. Depending on the individual, 50 to 75 percent of one's maximum heart rate can be attained," he said.

"The class offers an easy-to-follow aerobic program including warm-up, aerobic phase, toning and muscle strengthening phases, and cool-down with an emphasis on upper body and thigh work rather than hopping and jumping."

The class will meet at the Wellness Center, 2103 Iowa St., 798-3WEL, a department of St.

Elizabeth Medical Center, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Cost is $24 for the winter session.

Warriors

This is a serious problem and I'm trying to correct it before the playoffs start. So the Warriors have a chance to win inside defense holds up. Although struggling offensively, Granite City is second in the area in defense to Collinsville, allowing only 48.2 points per game. In addition to their 39 points and 34 rebounds in Friday's 65-51 win over Belleville West, Brian and Jeff Smith combined for seven blocked shots. And those two in particular have gained plenty of experience since the Warriors lost 72-44 to the Flyers at the Jacksonville tournament in November.

We played pretty well with East St. Louis for three quarters that night," said Warrior coach Bill Ohlendorf. "And I kind of let that one open up in the fourth quarter. Our big kids are more prepared to play this time. The weakside rebounding still killed us in that game. But we had 6-1 kids there for that game. This time we'll have a 6-7 player on the weak side."

Obviously, the Warriors will look for a low-scoring game. And as much as Ohlendorf doesn't want to put the scoring load on the sophomore twins, he might have to until Granite City finds some consistent perimeter offense.

A return to form for Matt Cook would help. He lit up the East St. Louis gym with eight three-pointers in the Warriors' last appearance there, a memorable 61-57 loss to eventual state champion East St. Louis Lincoln in regional play last February. But Cook is still working himself back slowly from pre-season knee surgery and is only playing a few minutes each game.

With tough defense, a big game from the Smiths and a few points from the outside, the Warriors could catch the Flyers ripe for an upset. And there's a good chance East Side could be looking 24 hours into the future. The Flyers will play Lincoln (8-5) on Saturday in a big cross-town matchup.

Hockey

Henson. "He had struggled, but he played pretty good in that game and was very steady Monday."

The Warriors got a second-period goal from sophomore Nathan Weaver, then third-period goals from Chad St. Peters and Mike Naeve for Monday's win. Mike Jaros picked up two assists, while Naeve, Weaver and Larry Wright also had assists. Naeve now has 12 goals and three assists while Jaros leads the team with nine assists. Matt Schnefke still leads the team in scoring with 17 points on 13 goals and four assists.

"We went with about 2½ lines and four defenseman in the third period," said Henson. "I asked for the shutout with six minutes left and got it. One bad play can cost you a goal and a division title."

The Warriors were outshot 31-25 by Francis Howell. Granite City beat McCluer North 3-2 on Saturday in a non-division game. Naeve had two goals and St. Peters one, while Chris Goetz, Scott Nann and Doug Critch had assists. Freshman Brent Golden was in goal. McCluer North scored first and last, but the Warriors hung on.

The Warriors return to division play Friday with a 9:15 p.m. game at North County against Hazelwood East. Granite City beat the Spartans 12-2 at home last month, but their tie with Hazelwood Central on Monday should prevent overconfidence.

Redwings

has done a great job. She's our only senior. She's only 5-8, but she plays like she's 6-2."

The Lady Warriors rolled off 16 straight points to take an 18-4 lead in the first quarter after Lewis sat down with three fouls. She returned for a second quarter which moved at breakneck speed. The Redwings outscored the Lady Warriors 23-20 and Granite City led 40-33 at halftime. But Alton made just six of 41 shots in the second half with Lewis out much of the time.

"We talked to the guards about not letting the twins penetrate," said Lobdell. "And the forwards and Jennifer, just had to get the rebounds."

Caravans played right at her area-leading average with 23 points while Meyenburgh had 15. Those two each had 17 rebounds while Michelle Bequette pulled down nine more. Junior guard Addie Lenzi had an outstanding floor game with nine points (including two three-pointers), seven assists and five steals.

The Lady Warriors stayed right on Belleville West's heels in the SWC. Now Granite City plays four conference road games in succession, starting Tuesday in Collinsville and continuing Wednesday with a showdown at West.

"West is probably still a better all-around team," said Bowling. "But I haven't seen them since very early in the year. Granite City is very good. They have a lot of talented seniors."

2 Peter 1:5-6 "... add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness."

We understand that faith is the essential ingredient in our Christian walk. Without it we cannot please God. Nor can we appropriate special grace in our lives, such as healing for our bodies.

However, we dare not stop with just faith and expect to be what God wants us to be. We, in this is most important. We must add to our faith. We must grow in the Christian graces. Certainly we must maintain virtue. Faith and these graces do not go together. It is sad to never add to our knowledge, or to be short of patience. The result? A lack of godliness.

How blessed to know that it is in our power to be increased in God. We are in control of our spiritual growth. It adds up for all of us. Let's do it. Today.

Various activities highlight church holiday gathering

Maxine Green covers the Granite City and Nameoki Township area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-6256.

An associational Christmas party was held at the Second Baptist Church, with 38 GA members and leaders attending. Members from State Park led the group in the GA theme song and sang it in Korean and Spanish.

Third Baptist puppeteers performed with the Rev. Elwyn Wilkinson as narrator.

The missionary birthday prayer calendar was presented by the GA's from First Baptist Church of Madison.

Mission Action Projects shared were: making gifts and taking them to nursing home residents; adopting a grandparent who is a resident of a nursing home; visiting shut-ins with homemade gifts; and visiting a young person confined to a wheelchair and presenting her with finger puppets that could be used to tell Bible stories.

Another group collected and sent sugar-free gelatin to Korean missionaries, Ship and Kathy Lloyd of Granite City, whose daughter needs the gelatin, which cannot be obtained in Korea.

They also told of sending more than 40 pounds of supplies to a missionary during the "Christmas in August" promotion and mailed several supplies to the Johnenning Baptist Center.

Maxine Green

in Washington, D.C.

Jane Raphael showed slides of the activities at the Johnenning Center and the way supplies will be used to help boys and girls who get help at the center.

Each girl was given a ticket with a mission fact, which she had to read to the one in charge of the refreshment booth to obtain popcorn, candy and soda.

The First Baptist Church of Granite City gave toys and clothing to 37 families, serving a total of 109 children. This was accomplished through its Care and Share Program headed by Nita Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick (Pat) Greig of Chicago spent an evening last week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Doris) Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Barb) Rigby returned home from Big Rock, Tenn., where they visited Mrs. Rigby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rippy, and other relatives.

"Merry Christmas with Love" was presented by the Granite City High School Chorus, under the direction of Gail E. Mueller, with accompanists Carrie Smith and Kyle Braundmeier.

"Carol of the Bells" was presented by the combined choruses.

"Jazz Gloria" was presented by Chris Curtis, guitar, and Jason Burkett, drums.

The Girls Glee Club sang a "Christmas Finale," "Back to Christmas Past" and "An American Christmas Portrait."

Soloists were: Cathy Campbell, Jenni Milton, Shanna Sue Gibson, Jennifer Norris, Carrie Heck, Leslie Yates, Rhonda Jolly and Loretta Young.

The cantos include "Christmas in the Air," "An After-Christmas Carol," "Pablo, the Reindeer" and "Holiday Hoedown."

The Swing Choir (Advanced Mixed Chorus), with members John Miller, Chad Martin, Lynda Mahoney, Carlie Smith, Lisa Lucas and Aimee Hicks, sang "Christmas from the Heart," featuring 11 Christmas songs.
